

OVERLOOK NO CASES OF LIQUOR VIOLATION, COOLIDGE ADVISES

SPECIAL EFFORTS ON BIG 'FELLOWS' GET HIS APPROVAL

Views of President Set Forth Following Recent Conference With Wayne B. Wheeler.

BUCKNER'S POLICY HIT BY STATEMENT

New York District Attorney Inclined To Let "Hip Pocket" Alone for Bigger Game.

Washington, November 20.—(AP)—All violations of the prohibition law, however small, should be prosecuted, in the opinion of President Coolidge, although he believes that special stress should be placed upon cases where convictions will close up large sources of liquor supplies.

The president feels that prohibition violations are being prosecuted by federal authorities as rapidly and thoroughly as the existing legal machinery permits, and recognizes that prosecutions serving to abolish supply sources do much to reduce minor prohibition cases, which have been clogging court dockets.

The view of United States Attorney Buckner, of New York, that the small prohibition law violations should be ignored, if necessary, to concentrate upon larger cases, has stirred up a controversy which has been brought to the attention of the chief executive.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, recently criticized Mr. Buckner because of his public announcement that he would make little effort to catch the hip-flask law violators, in order to center his forces against the bigger ones. He also made the prohibition situation in New York the subject of a conversation with Mr. Coolidge last week.

JUDGES RULE DRY LAW FATE.

New York, November 20.—(AP)—United States Attorney Buckner, whose policy of ignoring "flask offenders" in order to concentrate on wholesale bootleggers has aroused something of a storm in national dry circles, declared tonight the problem of thorough prohibition enforcement in New York was entirely one of "judges."

"Give me enough judges and I will prosecute every violator in New York," he said, when his attention was called to a dispatch ascribing to President Coolidge the opinion that no cases should be overlooked.

MRS. WOOD GETS DIVORCE DECREE

Decree Granted After Testimony Charges Atlanta Woman Was Intimate With Husband.

Wilmington, Del., November 20.—(AP)—Only 20 minutes were required today for Mrs. Katherine Thompson Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, of Wilmington, to secure a divorce decree nisi on statutory grounds from her husband, former Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood, son of Governor General Wood, of the Philippine Islands.

The case was uncontested in superior court.

A stipulation regarding the future custody of the two children of the couple will be presented later to the court by counsel for both parties.

Testimony supporting the charges of Mrs. Wood was offered by two negro bell boys, of Tampa, Fla., and a private detective, Samuel Ross, of Philadelphia. All testified that in March of this year Wood stayed at a Tampa hotel with a Miss Essington, also known as Mrs. Essington. Although ignorant of the woman's first name, Ross testified that Miss Essington admitted to him that she was a "sporting woman" and a widow with a home in Atlanta.

Ross went to Tampa to investigate the case for Mrs. Wood on April 4, he said.

Mrs. Wood testified that she was married on April 2, 1922, lived two years with her husband in the Philippines, and traveled to Europe through Asia with him. She said she left her husband in Paris in June, 1924, and returned to her parents home here. Her father testified that since that time he has supported his daughter and children.

Although Wood did not contest the case, he was represented in court by counsel.

Delayed Love Letter Causes Suicide of Author's Grandson

RICHARD BRET HARTE FOUND IN GAS-FILLED ROOM

Paris, November 20.—(AP)—A special delivery love letter, which traveled more slowly than the ordinary mail, and was delayed in delivery, was responsible for the suicide of Richard Bret Harte, a grandson of the famous American author, Bret Harte, his friends said. His body was found in his gas-filled Montparnasse apartment today.

Last Tuesday Harte quarreled with his sweetheart, a young English woman, and she left him, saying she would either send a special delivery letter within three hours or would never communicate with him again. The letter failed to arrive until noon the next day, and Harte's friends found it, unopened, pushed under his door when they entered the apartment today.

Harte's body was found on the bed. All the jets of a gas stove were turned on. The doors and windows were not sealed, so death must have come slowly. This was indicated by a letter which was found, scrawled over many pages, the writing beginning firmly, but becoming progressively illegible.

"To you, my love, this is my last letter, and I am writing it as I die," the letter began. Finally it ended in a blot.

Harte was known to have been greatly depressed by his failure to emulate his grandfather's literary achievements. He was born in Philadelphia in 1880.

'KID' LIEUTENANT ROUTS ARMY STAFF IN BATTLE OF WITS

Gullion Downed in Attempt To Show That Lieut. Sheridan Did Not Know Facts.

Washington, November 20.—The army general staff matched wits with a 28-year-old witness at the Mitchell court-martial Friday and suffered ignominious rout.

Major Allen Gullion, representing the directing heads of the army and sitting in with the attorneys prosecuting Colonel William Mitchell, came to the trial primed to show that the youngster didn't know what he was talking about.

The "kid," Lieutenant H. W. Sheridan, was primed to show that he did. The "kid" won. His direct testimony given Thursday and the cross-examination, which failed to do much except exhibit his keen mind, will stand in the record a support to the court-martial officer's defense.

The legal joust between Sheridan and Gullion was bitter. Some saw Sheridan as an impertinent youngster. Others criticized the grilling cross-examination he was subjected to as brutal.

The climax came when Gullion used the word "blackamoors."

Sheridan flushed. He half rose in his chair. Glaring at Gullion, he demanded to know:

"Am I being called a blackamoors here?"

"No, no, by no means," Gullion said. "I mean that the most ignorant person could see and not be fitted to criticize."

The tension increased. Representative Frank S. Reid, chief of Mitchell's counsel, jumped to his feet.

"You see it?" he hurled at Gullion.

The fight went on merrily. The

Clara Morris, Once Great Actress, Dies

Ranked With Sarah Bernhardt in Days of Her Prime on Stage.

New Canaan, Conn., November 20. Clara Morris, once regarded as the greatest American actress of her day, died here Friday at the home of friends. She was 79 years old and had lived in New Canaan for the past 18 years.

The aged actress was classed in the 80's and the 90's with the immortal Sarah Bernhardt. Her real name was Clara Morrison Horriot and she was born in Toronto, Can.

In the final 20 years of her life, she rarely went to New York, the scene of her former triumphs. In the country she studied bird life.

Nearly two years ago, an attempt was made to arrange a huge benefit for her in a New York theater, but when Clara Morris heard about it, she refused to allow it to be carried through. She didn't need any help, she said, and she would prefer to be remembered just as she was when she left Broadway, and not as an object of charity.

Miss Morris once was wealthy, but at the time of her death, she was unable to enjoy the life of luxury that was hers at the height of her career. Her husband, Fred Harriott, died years ago.

A few days before her death, Miss Morris remarked to a friend, "I am the only famous actress who had only one husband and never knew any family troubles."

$1,600,000 DAM PLANNED ON COOEE

Tennessee Electric Power Company Planning Big Expenditure Near Blue Ridge, Georgia.

Chattanooga, Tenn., November 20.—(AP)—B. C. Cobb, of New York city, was elected president and chairman of the board of directors of the Tennessee Electric Power company, at a meeting of directors here this afternoon, succeeding W. M. Flook and C. M. Clark, respectively.

At the same time, it was announced that the directors had adopted a budget calling for the expenditure of $1,600,000 in expansion during the coming fiscal year.

The Tennessee Electric Power company controls various water power and steam power plants in Tennessee and is preparing to build a dam on the upper Ocoee river near Blue Ridge, Ga., which will cost $1,000,000.

Mr. Cobb has been chairman of the executive committee since the organization of the Tennessee Electric Power company.

Large amounts are to be spent in improving plants in middle and east Tennessee, and in adding another unit at Hale's Bar.

Beside Mr. Cobb, other officers elected are T. A. Kenney, B. C. Edgar and J. C. Guild, vice presidents; B. F. Manning, secretary-treasurer; C. Wright, assistant secretary-treasurer. The board of directors is composed of B. C. Cobb, C. M. Clark, W. M. Flook, B. C. Edgar, T. A. Kenney, T. R. Preston and J. P. Hopkins.

Home for Friendless Is Doing Great Work for Unfortunates

ONE OF 34 COMMUNITY CHEST AGENCIES

It's a hard-hearted man or woman who can pass by the Home for the Friendless on Highland avenue at the intersection of Glen Iris drive, and witness the four-score or more children at play there without a feeling of sympathy and a desire to assist them in some way.

These destitute children, boys and girls ranging in age from one year to sixteen, are being given a chance to become useful citizens of their community. Practically all of them are half-orphaned, either from their father or mother being taken from them by various circumstances—death, accident, divorce, desertion or abandonment—over which the children themselves, of course, have no control.

"They are being provided for temporarily, it is true, until their remaining parent is able to make arrangements for them, but sometimes this temporary care extends over several years. As a rule, however, a child remaining in the home less than a year, for in that time the father or mother has been able to make arrangements for a home or in some way care for the child.

Filled to Capacity.

The home is filled to capacity at all times and there is always an application list of 25 to 30 waiting. Many of these cases come to the home personally; others are referred to the home by other social service agencies in the community chest, of which the Home of the Friendless is a

METHODISTS VOTE TO HOLD MEETING IN ATLANTA IN 1926

North Georgia Conference in Session at Griffin Votes To Hold Next Meet at Wesley Memorial

Griffin, Ga., November 20.—The North Georgia Methodist conference today selected Wesley Memorial church, Atlanta, as the place of meeting for next year. The First Methodist church, Atlanta, also was nominated.

Three sessions of the conference were held today, a night session being held for the first time in many years.

It was learned today that the board of laymen's activities will ask that Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory university, be appointed conference lay leader. It is stated that Dr. Cox has declared his willingness to accept the leadership of the laymen of the conference, which will bring the lay activities to a central head in Atlanta.

Reports submitted by presiding elders of the 12 districts on the conference indicated that 6,500 persons were converted in Methodist revival meetings this year, and united with congregations within the bounds of this conference. The number of church accessions by certificate was not announced.

16 Lay Delegates.

This conference sent up memorials to the general conference which meets next year asking that lay representation in the annual conferences hereafter be 16 lay delegates from each district, except in such cases where the lay representation should possibly exceed the number of clerical members from that district. Another memorial sent from this conference asks that lay leaders of annual conferences shall hereafter be recognized as members of the annual conferences.

M. J. Daniel, of Griffin, read the report of the board of finance, which showed that the sum of $25,125 had this year been raised for the superannuated preachers in the conference, and the widows and orphans of deceased preachers who are claimants on the conference funds. He stated that 47 superannuates, 82 widows and 28 orphans are thus entitled to make claims. He also stated that in addition to the sum named above the general board made contributions for the same purpose in the sum of $4,580.

This year this conference raised the sum of $80,000 on the $100,000 superannuate endowment fund.

With the announcement that $15,000,000 in centenary pledges remain unpaid, and that the general mission board faces an indebtedness of $1,500,000, with the possibility that missionaries may have to be recalled, the conference was brought to realization of the seriousness confronting the denomination in addresses today.

Atlanta Girl To Play Lead In Local Movie

Miss Pearl Bessent Named In Constitution's Contest

The Atlanta girl who will play opposite "Slim" Brodard in the comedy to be photographed in Atlanta settings and produced in the Howard theater, is Miss Pearl Bessent, who lives at 190 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Miss Bessent was notified of her good fortune Friday afternoon by Brodard after thousands of votes which had been cast for her and for a number of other young women were counted. Miss Bessent was winner by a comfortable margin.

The girl who will play the leading role in "An Atlanta Romance," has a very attractive personality and is quite beautiful. She has dark hair, but her eyes are blue. She came to Atlanta from Cairo, Ga., and is the daughter of Mrs. G. Bessent. She makes her home here with her sister, Mrs. C. McDaniel.

Miss Bessent undoubtedly will be successful in this picture," said Brodard in commenting upon her selection. "She is a very wonderful type and is intelligent. She tells me she has had some stage experience, and this, of course, is gratifying."

Brodard said, under auspices of The Constitution. He is not yet ready to announce just when work will start because all settings have not been completed. Announcement of the starting date probably will be made next week.

Tracy Mathewson, of The Constitution, veteran camera man and representative of the Fox film news in the southeast, will photograph the comedy. It will be produced for a week on the screen at the Howard theater. With the exception of Brodard every character will be an Atlanta.

Queen Mother Alexandra Stricken Fatally by Heart Failure on Eve of 81ST Birthday.

PRINCE OF WALES NOT AT BEDSIDE

Fog Prevents Train From Reaching Grandmother Before She Breathed Her Last at Palace.

Sandringham, England, November 20.—(AP)—England's "fairy queen" is dead. Stricken with heart disease yesterday morning almost on the eve of her 81st birthday, Queen Mother Alexandra passed away at 5:25 o'clock this afternoon, with her son, King George V, Queen Mary, and sorrowing members of the royal family at her bedside.

Thus died the radiantly beautiful Danish princess, who captivated England 62 years ago when she came to be the bride of the then Prince of Wales, and who held the empire's love and reverence through three generations as the Princess of Wales, as the queen of Edward VII and then as the queen mother.

Prince of Wales Absent.

There was a poignant note of tragedy in the final drama of Queen Alexandra's long life, for her favorite grandchild, the Prince of Wales, was not among those at her death bed. His special train, feeling its way through the fog, arrived at Sandringham a few minutes after the end came. The heir to the throne never saw his grandmother alive after the visit he made to greet her, just after his return from his African and South American tour.

The grief-stricken prince, accompanied by his brother, the Duke of York, went from the little station at Sandringham where the station master broke the news to him, to the royal house of mourning, Sandringham house, which a heavy pall of fog had wrapped in a melancholy shroud.

Life Like Fairy Story.

Once she was a poor little princess, as princesses go, but she loved the fairy stories of her native Denmark and her life was much like one of them. She grew to be a most beautiful young girl and was romantically wooed and wed by a prince from England. And in the fullness of time the "sea king's" daughter from over the sea, as Tennyson sang of her, sat on the throne beside her king.

She lived long and happily and died bequeathing memories of a personality as fragrant with lovable qualities as that of any queen in history.

It was the second heart attack this morning that proved too much for Queen Alexandra's enfeebled constitution. She weakened gradually in spite of the administration of oxygen. At the end she died as peacefully as she has lived in recent years in her beloved Norfolk country home, where, it is said here, she expressed the desire to be buried.

IDOL OF BRITISH FOR OVER SIX DECADES.

London, November 20.—(AP)—Queen Alexandra had been the idol of the English people for 62 years. The engagement of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards King Edward VII, to the daughter of Prince Christian, heir to the Danish throne, had been greeted with great joy in England. The English public was tired

STEINER ARRESTED IN AUTO THEFT CASE

W. L. Steiner, 22, of 130 East Pine street, is held under a blanket charge of suspicion while police probe his alleged connection with the theft and sale of an automobile belonging to the Lee Tire Service company, which was stolen from in front of their store, 321 Spring street, last Wednesday.

The automobile was stolen, according to detectives, in less than 10 minutes after it had been parked by George P. Rountree, a salesman of the tire company.

We traced the machine and found where Steiner had sold it, taking in trade another car and $135 in cash," Detective James H. Doyal, one of the arresting officers stated.

Upon being arrested at the police station, detectives say, $136 in cash was taken from Steiner's pockets.

Steiner protested against being arrested, said he knew nothing of the machine being stolen, "I will be able to establish my complete innocence of any connection with the theft of any automobile," Steiner stated.

Associated with Detective Doyal in the case are Detectives W. Oscar Bullard, E. D. Meek and E. W. Gian.

Steiner was taken to the police station, where he was held for further investigation.

Broke and Hungry
Escaped Convicts
Surrender Selves

Would your heart fail you if $100 should come walking up to you, solicited, and say "I am yours, take me?"

This was the plight of Patrolman Jess C. Butler Friday night when two escaped convicts from Spartanburg, S. C., James W. Ross and J. H. Sheehan, presented themselves to the officer and requested to be arrested.

"What for?" Officer Butler inquired.

"We left the chain gang in Spartanburg last Sunday, and we have tramped about considerably," he was informed. "We are broke and have nothing to eat and nowhere to sleep and its going to be cold tonight."

Both men had been convicted of a felony and the usual reward for such escaped convicts is $50 each.

"I was sentenced to serve two years in connection with the theft of an automobile," said Ross, while Sheehan said he drew a four-year sentence on a statutory charge.

"Both of us only had about six months to serve before being free. We were both 'trusties.' We have been unable to find any work and so decided to surrender."

Both men were taken to the police station, where they were held for further investigation.

ALLEGED 'BUNCO' GANGSTER IS HELD

Postoffice Inspector Herbert N. Graham, now stationed at New York, left that city Friday for Philadelphia to investigate the arrest there of a man said to be Theodore S. Franklin, alleged member of the Floyd Woodward "bunco gang," which operated in Atlanta several years ago.

Franklin was recognized by two policemen in Philadelphia and placed under arrest, according to news dispatches received from that city.

Inspector Graham has been handling the case since the indictment was returned by a federal grand jury in Atlanta several years ago. At that time Inspector Graham was stationed in Atlanta, but since then has been transferred to New York.

Joe E. Johnston, inspector in charge of the local office, said it is probable that Franklin will be brought to Atlanta to stand trial.

Franklin was recognized by two policemen in Philadelphia and placed under arrest, according to news dispatches received from that city.

Franklin has been sought by police and federal officers for six years. The Atlanta charge is in connection with the defrauding of Charles S. Madeira of $25,000 in 1919 in a fake stock transaction. He operated also under the alias of Frank Lawrence and is the international president.

THE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS.

In his address Thursday evening before the New York Chamber of Commerce President Coolidge now doubt anticipated some of the salient features of his message to congress which he is now preparing.

The extended reference he made to the world court and the economic urgency that this country enter it forecasts his message in this respect, which at best can be but a reaffirmation of his former message on the same issue. In 1923 he asked the senate to adopt the proposal but it did not get a vote.

His opposition to unnecessary and irritating government interference with business is but a reiteration of another section of his message of 1923, and indicates very strongly that he will again include it in his message two weeks hence. His filletation of the country upon the great commercial and industrial revival may be expected as the prelude of his forthcoming message. It is very probable that in the latter he will credit its responsibility to a republican administration's tariff policy. More correctly, however, could it be credited to a more liberalized foreign policy, and to the financial rehabilitation of war-torn countries through treaties that strengthen world belief that wars are being eliminated from civilization.

The president's approaching address to congress necessarily commands at this time the first thought of the country. At best it can be but little more than a rewriting of his 1923 address, for congress has not yet acted upon a single one of his major recommendations. He asked for legislation making possible the consolidation of railroads, and nothing was done; for legislation to prevent definitely the periodical coal strike, and nothing was done, and another strike has held the center of the industrial stage for two months; for an agricultural code, and nothing was done, and so on. His recommendations have been constructive. They have been remarkably free from political bias. But a little group of insurgents, not only rebels against the president and his administration, but against constructive legislation of every degree, has blocked the program. Too many of the democrats in 1923-'24 abetted this group of radical thought. National election year was ahead. "Political expedience," a much over-worked mental condition, was responsible for a great deal of congressional folly during the last session of congress. With the national stage set differently in 1925-'26, it is hoped that saner judgment may prevail.

Members are already beginning to gather in Washington. Several committees are at work. No congress since the war days of 1917-'18, has approached the opening with a greater volume, or a wider range, of important issues. As paradoxical as it may seem, considering the majority strength in both houses, the democratic representatives will be on trial. And that trial will revolve around the group of radicals in both houses.

THE QUEEN-MOTHER.

It is doubtful if there has ever been a more beloved woman in European court circles than the dowager queen, Alexandra, who died Friday. Queen Victoria was greatly beloved, but she was a ruler, and therefore her life became associated with European politics at a day when Great Britain was not as democratic in its government as it is today.

The dowager queen, who took the title of queen-mother on the day her son, George, ascended the throne of England was picturesque, and for twenty-five years was closely in the public eye not only of Great Britain but of all Europe.

The womanly manner in which

Alexandra conducted herself through many trying ordeals, and her outstanding love for the masses, which was responsible for her marvelous record for benevolences, are factors in her life that made her deeply and sincerely loved by all her people.

For many years she was the Princess of Wales at a time when Edward VII.—as the Prince of Wales—was the most conspicuous uncrowned figure in Europe.

Her husband's mother, Queen Victoria, was deeply in love with her daughter-in-law, admiring her frugal Danish habits.

After Victoria's death, and the ascension of Edward VII. to the throne, she naturally became the most outstanding figure among the women of the old world, for Edward was a king more of the old school, and her father still reigned in Denmark.

It was not until the death of Edward VII, 15 years ago, that she retired from the limelight of active court circles, since which time, however, she kept up her greatest interest—that of human welfare. She was truly a great woman.

WORTH THINKING ABOUT.

Judge W. B. Lamar, of Washington—an outstanding southern democrat who was in congress from Florida for many years—discussing a phase of the proposed party unionism between the democratic south and radicalism of the west, takes the position that such a combination, against the east, would be ruinous to the democracy.

The position of The Constitution in this and in all matters that strike at the very vitals of our system of government, and, indeed, that strike at good government under any system, is well known. The west has been the cradle of every wild-eyed political and social "ism" that this country has had to contend with for thirty years.

Today the program of constructive legislation that is to go before the forthcoming congress is threatened by a group of radicals that came entirely out of the west and the northwest. It is this group that politically feeds upon the doctrines of socialism and bolshevism, and incites prejudices against constructive wealth, and seeks to tear down productivity of capital by every extreme measure known to radical thought.

The east and the south have always had common interests, economically, socially and culturally. The great impetus to southern industry today is coming out of the east. The large commercial cities of the northern states are the financial centers upon which the south almost wholly depends. The great influx of insurance capital that is used to develop the south comes out of the east. The manufacturing plants that move to the south—to closer proximity to raw materials—come out of the east. The south is conservative in thought and it learned its lessons of conservatism, and of economic safety and soundness, from the east. It is unthinkable that any serious attempt should be made to create an alliance so entirely incongruous as that of southern conservatism and western radicalism. And yet that is the motive, too obvious for question, of every organized attempt to array these two great sections of eastern America against each other.

The democratic party is a conservative party. Every attempt to steer it into the many camps of the isms and schisms of western political fanaticism has resulted in inglorious defeat. It will continue to meet the same defeats as long as it continues to temporize with policies that are foreign to the letter and spirit of its faith.

True democrats from every section of America should be always closely knitted into one compact organization, with every thought of sectional alliances dissipated.

If, however, sectional alignments must be made then the natural, and certainly the only hopeful, alignment should be between the southern and the eastern democrats.

Any other alignment, as of the democrats of the south with the radicalism of the west can only mean the dominance of a new and dangerous faith, and the disintegration of the democratic party. It has already suffered, and suffered severely, by reason of its flirtations since 1896 with the will-o'-wisp that had no other motives to serve than the satisfying of selfish, insatiable appetites for political preferment.

No party can survive on intrigue, and the proposed western-southern alliance is based upon that, and similar political vices.

Just From Georgia

The Meeting. I. New light streaming over the wintry lands. Old times come, a-dreaming, with New Times holding hands. Memories of the vanished years, with the sunlight in the tears.

II. Old friends and new friends—In the light they meet—Talk of the old times over—When life was glad and sweet. But still life knows the joy that seems sweeter than all the old-time dreams.

There's a bachelor contributor to the Albany Herald, and the latest letter from which he writes, says: "Some men break laws as unconsciously as some women break hearts."

The LaGrange Graphic discovered "the happiest man in the world," who hails from north Georgia and "has six fiddles, ten children, thirteen houses, a deaf and dumb wife and a moonshine still the government can't locate."

The Old Meeting House. (Union Chapel, Putnam County, Ga.) Still stood at standing, temple sweet, And may you stand forever more; Where rural congregations meet To worship in the days of yore. I was a youth when first I met With those I love at that dear shrine; Nor shall I now in age forget Those early joys, to me divine.

Borne by the hastening flight of years I wandered far from that away; But wait my lonely nights, and pray I've thought of thee and knelt to pray; And though life's waves have pressed Thy image and the thought of God My bleeding heart with peace hath blessed.

To cities wide where human feet Go hasting on in selfish pride; Or where the ways of life are beat, Or moaning winds sing to the tide; I've gone, but never have I found In all life's wandering and its woes A place like this, 'tis holy ground, With friends, dear friends, of long ago.

—ALEXANDER E. SILVEY, Rome, Ga.

Southern Alignment With Eastern Democracy Essential To Success

Editor Constitution: I note in The Constitution the list of Mayor-Elect Walker, of New York city, to Atlanta, and the cordial reception he received there. Also your editorial as to keeping an eye on New York state for a presidential nominee for the democratic party.

I hope the south will cut loose from the west. In the first place it is repulsive to the core. In the second, it is the fertile field of all sorts of crazy legislation, tinged with hatred of wealth and bent on penalizing it.

In the past two weeks Senator Norris, of Nebraska, was quoted as seeing no objection to taking one hundred million dollars, by inheritance tax, from an estate of two million dollars. Such a view warrants a "capital levy on property."

That is what the socialists and communists are trying to do now, in France.

Trying to get something that belongs to some one else. And take it by the infancy of legislation.

Every person was sorry for the death of Mr. William Jennings Bryan. But if there is any compensation in it, it is that his grip is loosed from the throat of the national democratic party. His political life was made up of impracticable "reforms" and a sort of "hit-the-trail" religion.

The recent utterance of the "board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, of the Methodist Episcopal church" was intemperate, to say the least.

Can't the "clobber keep to his last" isn't Christ and Him crucified enough to keep the pot busy?

The real objection to Governor ("Al") Smith, of New York, as a presidential candidate, is that he is a Catholic. I am not a Catholic, and not a Protestant except in the sense that I am not a Catholic. All creeds look alike to me. But I know Governor Smith, of New York, is not the ablest public man of this day. He is now three times governor of the state of New York by great majorities. He is a man of high character.

He would make a great president of this country. At present he would come nearer to an election to the presidency than any other democrat of national reputation.

If elected to the presidency, he would enforce the prohibition laws as they exist on the statute books; and the 18th amendment to the federal constitution.

He would do his duty. Why should we hear ring into their address "Mr. Walker's connection with New York's odorous prize fighting game?" Mr. Walker's character was not attacked by any responsible opponent in his late New York campaign. And why should this Methodist board charge Mr. Walker with a connection with "those elements in New York who are doing their best to murder American standards of morality?"

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

New York, November 20.—Startles on Cortland street, dealer in live fish, and adjacent, will fix you up in the evening with starling American with a new circus. Six-foot box constrictors in his emporium cost only $10, though 10-foot snakes come as high as thirty simoleons.

He can supply you among other curiosities with a "missing link," a bearded lady, a glass eater, a woman with four legs, a pair of Siamese twins, a fellow who can eat a hole in a solid iron bar and a "lightning calculator."

The missing link, descendant of Bosco, "trapped in the wilds of Borneo and brought to America at an enormous expense," confided that he is really a graduate of a negro college in Atlanta. I should also say that an extra charge is made for the set of bandages that hold the Siamese twins together.

The snake-eater about to go on tour, under the name of Mahout Khan, is a registered voter in Brooklyn, where he appears on the list as Samuel Lufschultz. He is the father of 13 children. He makes his living by eating a hundred bananas or so a day stuffed in sausage skins, with snake characteristics painted on the outside with candy coloring.

The fine upstanding seidels, the food of the glass eater, sell at 50 cents a dozen to the trade. They are made of rock candy.

It's an emporium of wonders and illusions, calculated to deceive the rural constabulary and the patrons of the fairs.

Here the prospective sidewalk operator can buy sets of mirrors which can be so arranged that the young lady's body disappears and only her living head lies helplessly in a box. War hands for the manacle king. These are the hands that he holds up to the public when the showman fastens them securely with chains and a stout lock under the critical gaze of the multitude. Then the cloth is held in front. The "manacle king" is seen to struggle, but when the cloth is taken away, he holds up his own natural hands triumphantly.

If there were a way to measure or weigh joy and sorrow, I believe that the combined sadness of New York would tip the scales easily against happiness. Broadway and the bright lights you'll say, is it not a paradise of gaiety? Maybe. To me the laughter is too hollow. That carefree devil-may-care attitude is often bravado and that painted smile very often hides a cynical hard sneer.

Otto Kruger, of "Easy Come, Easy Go," initiating me in the intricate mysteries of play acting, told me that in a farce there is always a "cue laugh." It comes early in the first act and is calculated to test the audience. If the patrons respond to that rollcall, the rest of the evening rolls along smoothly enough.

audience should not be allowed to think too long after a gag, but should feel the humor and be carried along. Lags are dangerous. To know the right tempo in a farce is the whole secret.

everywhere and a magnificent chorus begins. Mandolins tinkle, guitars sing plaintively, lampions and colored lanterns dance on the waters. Suddenly I'm hushed as some pure voice lifts in an exalted anthem. It is a moment of immense grandeur.

Giant Sausage.

Here President von Hindenburg has paid a state visit to Koenigsberg and has been received by the good people of that town in the customary genial style, as if he were the Kaiser himself. Part of the civic program of entertainment in honor of the august visitor consisted in the presentation to him of an immense sausage by the butchers of the city. With that ceremony the famous and famous sausage in the world, in the year 1925, was born.

The sausage was a masterpiece of the art of sausage making. It was made of the finest pork, and was seasoned with the most delicate spices. It was then rolled into a long, thin sausage, and was then cooked in a special way.

The sausage was then cut into small pieces, and was then served to the president and his entourage. It was a most delicious meal, and the president was very much pleased with it.

PRACTICAL POINTS IN ASEPSIS.

This is the aseptic era. The antiseptic era is past. I hope the new era does not find your household all cluttered up with antiseptics in boxes, bottles, jars and tubes, costly junk, which you childishly fancied would heal wounds or cure diseases.

The aseptic, not the antiseptic, treatment of minor wounds is of all means the best treatment, but only a physician, surgeon or nurse, who has been scientifically trained in aseptic technique understands how to treat a wound in this way. The layman simply cannot understand how to treat a thing of this kind, and I shall not attempt to make him understand it. But perhaps it will be possible to impart to the layman some practical points in asepsis which may be of some use to him.

To select a homely, familiar malady, cornea—and please let's not quarrel over the nature or cause of corneal fever in a young child perhaps sharp fever) and a nasal discharge at first watery, but after a few days mucopurulent, and generally running a course of several days, come under the use of any antiseptic spray, wash or other medicament prevent this common respiratory infection? Does the use of any antiseptic medicament cure cornea or even hasten recovery?

Personally I doubt whether there is any advantage in the use of any antiseptic medicament in the prevention or the relief of cornea. But this is probably not the prevailing opinion of good physicians. The consensus is probably in favor of the application of antiseptics to the cornea.

Cornea, particularly the organic silver preparations, such as a freshly prepared argyrol solution, which may be used in the form of a wash or directly by the physician or used in a spray or by irrigating solution. So many persons experience relief from the use of antiseptics that we are compelled to acknowledge its value.

The use of antiseptic sprays or irrigations of the nasal passages regularly as a preventive against cornea or any other known respiratory infection has far less support. Of course, it is next to impossible to obtain any direct evidence of the efficacy of such a procedure. In the early part of the great influenza epidemic a large proportion of the troops arriving at the front in the United States were afflicted with the "flu" shortly after their arrival. One military medical officer insisted upon all his men using a solution of iodine and glycerine, the "Dobell's" solution night and morning under his observation. None of the men in his company contracted the disease at that station. This certainly seemed to favor the use of the practice may be worth while, at least against influenza when that disease is epidemic in the community.

Where abundant conditions prevail, as in the case with so many of us house sick folk, what with chronic rhinitis, thickened turbinate bodies, and a host of other nasal troubles, the like, then the natural defensive barrier cannot be relied upon, and the careful use of some mild spray, wash or irrigating solution, such as a solution of 10 grains of boric acid to the ounce of boiled water—is a precaution to be resorted to in time of epidemic.

INHERITANCE TAX

Tangle Cleared In New Ruling

Estates which were made subject to Georgia inheritance taxes by the death of the owner prior to passage of the new state inheritance tax law by the last legislature, should pay taxes under the old law, while those where the owner has died since the passage of the new law should pay under the provisions of the federal law. Thus the total tax to be paid in any estate is not increased at all by the state tax, although the state gets some of the opening week of the school term last September.

Under the new inheritance tax law, the state of Georgia collects only as much tax as may be deducted from the federal inheritance tax under provisions of the federal law. Thus the total tax to be paid in any estate is not increased at all by the state tax, although the state gets some of the opening week of the school term last September.

Attorney General Napier points out that there are now cases pending in the courts involving the construction of this law which, in due time, will finally settle the question.

The opinion of the legislature that it was intended by the legislature to make the new law effective immediately upon its passage, because of the federal clause in section 5, "The further enacted that there shall be no other inheritance tax assessed or collected out of estates under the laws of this state," this clause also would imply, he says, that the new law would apply to all estates, whether the testator had died prior to the passage of this state law, but adds that this is by no means certain, inasmuch as the first section of the act provides that:

"From and after passage of this act it shall be the duty of the legal representatives of the estate of any person who may die a resident of this state and whose estate is subject to the payment of a federal estate tax," etc.

Picks and shovels have been wielded with effectiveness by an augmented crew from the city commission department since recent news from Washington gave practical assurance that the federal designation on an air mail route through Atlanta, Ga., would be made.

Wide Atlanta's air landing field had been tentatively known as Candler field for several months. The committee unanimously voted officially to name the field, and to ask city council at its next meeting to ratify its action.

Ask Aid of County Board. The committee also unanimously adopted a resolution to ask the county commissioners at their next meeting December 2, and request additional financial aid from the county in equipping the field. It is proposed to remodel and otherwise modernize the club house which has been on the tract since the days of the old speedway.

It was the sense of the committee that Candler field, with its vast acreage, could be utilized to advantage as a site for a landing field, and a community center could be developed there, it was believed, with baseball and football diamond, and with space aside for polo, tennis and other sports.

In making his motion that the field officially be named "Candler field," Alder J. H. Candler, declared the circumspect act of the donors.

Praises Candler. "The Candler family has given us an option to buy their tract for $300,000 at the expiration of five years, a price just about half of what it is worth today," Mr. Hartfield said.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists Call It "Joint-Ease" Because It's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joint Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain-racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis,aching muscles, stitch in the side, cric kin the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Jacobs' Pharmacy dispenses it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first-class druggists everywhere.—(adv.)

Bell St. Underpass Bids Are Too High; Action Postponed

Award of the contract for construction of the Bell street underpass, which would give a new outlet from the south to the north side, was deferred by the bridge committee of city council Friday afternoon because the lowest of seven bids submitted was in excess of the money set aside for the project.

The Atlanta and West Point railroad, through its president, Charles A. Wickham, had agreed to give $85,000 to construct the viaduct, providing the city and county would attend to the necessary grading. The lowest bid, that of the Hagedorn Construction company, was $72,900. The committee will withhold further action until a conference with Mr. Wickham, it was agreed.

Other bids submitted were as follows: Griffin Construction company, $96,322; MacDougall Construction company, $80,972; Nichols Contracting company, $73,000; J. R. Cuthbert, $84,000; W. C. Hawton Construction company, $125,316; J. L. Von Glahn and company, $73,850.

Political Body At Emory Plans Monthly Paper

Emory University, Ga., November 20.—(Special.)—A convocation of the executive committee of the Emory democratic political party was held tonight at the Sigma Nu fraternity house, and plans and policies for the year were discussed. By a unanimous vote, the gathering authorized the publication of a party paper and a committee, composed of J. Q. Maxwell, E. C. Locklear, Edward Bruce and Sandy Clower, was given charge of working out details as to the name, management, and date of publication of the monthly.

Addresses on the political outlook of the democratic party were made by J. Q. Maxwell, Robert Whittaker, Millsaps Fitzhugh and David Lockmiller. A numerical report as to the voting strength of the party was given by the secretary, E. L. Fagan. Lockmiller gave a brief resume of some of the movements of the "seaboard," the party opposed to the democrats, and a discussion of their tactics by the body followed.

Robert Whittaker proposed the following resolutions in making a report of the committee on organization:

"Resolved, That the policy of this party (democrat) be open and clean, and the encouragement of a two-party system at Emory; (2) that in selecting candidates we shall consider (1) merit, where merit is required; (2) work and interest of candidate and (3) cooperation with faculty in the interest of Emory."

After all business had been transacted, Mr. Fitzhugh declared the meeting adjourned and the committee was served with refreshments.

Those attending the meeting were: Millsaps Fitzhugh, chairman; R. L. Fagan, secretary and treasurer; Robert Whittaker, J. Q. Cleveland, J. Q. Maxwell, R. C. Locklear, Frank Tierell, Emory Smith, Edgar Chambers, Howell Sewell, Edward Bruce, Joseph Holmes, Forrest Pilgrim, David Lockmiller and Sandy Clower.

Liquor Traffic Repression Seen By Justice Beck

Prohibition has brought about a general repression of the liquor traffic in Georgia, according to the consensus of opinion of leading Georgia judges and educators prepared for the current issue of The Christian Index. It was announced Friday, Louis D. Newton, editor of The Index, said the symposium was suggested by recent increased discussion of the effectiveness of prohibition laws.

Justice Marcus W. Beck, of the supreme court, one of the contributors to the symposium, declared that conditions in Atlanta bear unmistakable evidence of the fact that the eighteenth amendment has brought "about a distinct repression in the liquor traffic."

Chancellor Charles M. Snelling, of the University of Georgia, declared that prohibition has reduced drinking at that institution. Judge M. C. Tarver, of the Cherokee circuit, said prohibition has reduced consumption of liquor in his territory.

Others who contributed to the symposium were B. L. Buzz, Atlanta; Judge E. D. Thomas, Atlanta; Dr. M. L. Brittain, Atlanta; Judge J. R. Ponder, Greenville; Judge A. B. Lovett, Savannah; Howell Cone, Statesboro; B. H. Hardy, Barnesville; Judge John D. Humphries, Atlanta, and Claud Bond, Toccoa.

Throughout the day motors whizzed through the country lanes between the railway station and Sandringham. Members of the royal family arrived and there was a scurrying of retainers back and forth. The cottagers of the vicinity, all of them personally acquainted with the queen because of her habit of stopping to chat with her neighbors, stood tearfully in their humble doorways waiting for the inevitable news of the great lady's passing.

Gloom settled over London with the fog and when the extra papers spread the news of the queen's death the city seemed to be observing the mourning. Thousands of persons can be seen visiting the theaters or movies. Queen Alexandra's hold on the affections of England was evident everywhere.

It is reported that the queen will be buried at Frogmore in a coffin made on the Sandringham estate.

REED, HALL DEPUTY, RELEASED UNDER BOND

Thompson Reed, one of the two Hall county deputy sheriffs held in Fulton Tower on charges growing out of the death Tuesday of Melvin Lowe, 22, from pistol shot wounds, Friday was released under $5,000 bond by order of Judge Jones, of Gainesville. Homer Strickland, the other officer, was still held at the tower, and so far as local officials knew, no effort had been made to obtain bond for him.

Lowe was shot last Sunday as he was running from the officers, and died Tuesday at a hospital at Gainesville. Before his death the wounded man signed a statement in which he charged the deputies with shooting him as he attempted to avoid arrest on a liquor charge. The deputies deny the charge.

Special Telegraph Wire Now Links Atlanta Office For Coral Gables With Main Office in Miami

Coral Gables Office, Atlanta, Ga.

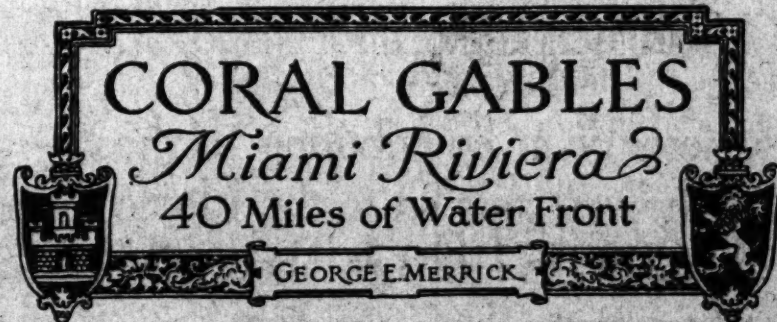

Definite accomplishments supply proof and carry conviction more than mere statements of facts. For example, it is a fact that Coral Gables' sales are mounting day by day to figures of heretofore unknown magnitude in any similar real estate development. But when these figures are supported by the construction of the largest sales organization building in the South, the proof is presented in concrete form. And when it is necessary by the requirements of the steadily increasing sales to install special telegraphic wire between our Miami Sales Office and Coral Gables' leading sales offices throughout the country, then conviction is assured.

Last week the special wire service was installed which united in almost instantaneous service our Atlanta Sales Office with the Miami Sales Office at Coral Gables. The new service makes it possible to record without a moment's delay all sales transactions at headquarters as well as to keep the latter in closest touch with business transactions not only in Atlanta but also with the entire Southern Sales District, of which Atlanta is the center. It is a service which has been needed for many months and especially so with the heavy tax placed upon the business volume of the Western Union in Miami during recent months.

Day by day Coral Gables advances steadily towards the goal which George E. Merrick, its creator and builder, has had clearly in mind for more than two years. One of these is the constant progress in beautiful and matured development. The other is the building up of confidence and prestige until an investor will buy Coral Gables land with the same security and assurance from a wall map in the Atlanta office as he does on the property in Coral Gables. And that thin copper wire stretching from Atlanta down to Miami is a most important link in the furtherance of these ambitious plans.

The advantage to Coral Gables' investors in the new service is very great. It is only one of a thousand features, which, combined, make Coral Gables of dominating importance to buyers in the local field.

If you don't want to give to the Community Chest, don't go out to the Home For the Friendless. You can't go and not give.

Did you ever see a child cold and actually suffering for food? Not nice to think about, of course. But it is even worse for the child.

They May Be Alone, but They are Not Friendless

You Atlantans with tender hearts have made possible the smile on these chubby little faces. You have made it possible for these children to grow into normal, healthy, useful citizens instead of becoming an abnormal, undeveloped menace to society.

This is an actual photograph taken at the Home For the Friendless.

You cannot put deceit into the face of a child.

You cannot make a child appear happy and contented unless it is happy and contented.

Children of the age of these youngsters are particularly susceptible to the influence of their surroundings and their environment.

These little chaps have no home except the Home For the Friendless and the very expression on their faces proves conclusively that in this institution there is an atmosphere of friendliness and of understanding.

Except for your generosity in contributing to the Community Chest, who will pass on to the Home For the Friendless $16,000 in 1926, it is horrifying to think what might happen to these children.

They cannot have luxuries, of course.

Fate has said that their early life is to be one of privation and hardship.

If we give ever so generously, we can't help that.

But, if we enable the Community Chest to carry out its plan of passing on to these children $16,000 of the $666,000 Atlanta is being asked to subscribe, they can be given food that is nourishing, even if it is plain.

They can be given clothing that is warm, although it may not be of the material of which your children's clothes are made.

They can be given a place that is warm and comfortable and they will never miss the soft thick rugs upon which your children play, because they have never known the joy of a bed-time romp on rugs so thick that even a suspicion of chill is kept from the little bodies of your children.

Atlanta is a city of homes—a prosperous, well-to-do city.

We tell the world of our home life and of the splendid influences that surround our children and we are not exaggerating in any detail.

But we are talking of our own children—of the children whose parents can take care of them.

We cannot evade our responsibility toward children who have no one to provide for them.

Your liberal subscription to the Community Chest will show that you are willing to do your part.

Ellensburg, Washington—"When I was first coming into womanhood I suffered terribly every month. My mother did everything she could think of, so she took me to several doctors and they only helped me a little. Mother was talking to another lady about my condition and she told mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mother got me six bottles and at the end of the first month I was much better, so I kept on taking it until I had no more pain. When I got married and had my first child I was in terrible pain so that it was impossible for me to do my housework. I thought of how the Vegetable Compound had been of so much benefit to me when I was a girl, so I went to Perier's Drug-Store and got six bottles. It sure did help me and I still take it. I am a well woman today and I can't say too much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will answer any letter that comes to me to answer about what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. WILLIAM CARVER, R. F. D. No. 2, Ellensburg, Wash.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

1-30

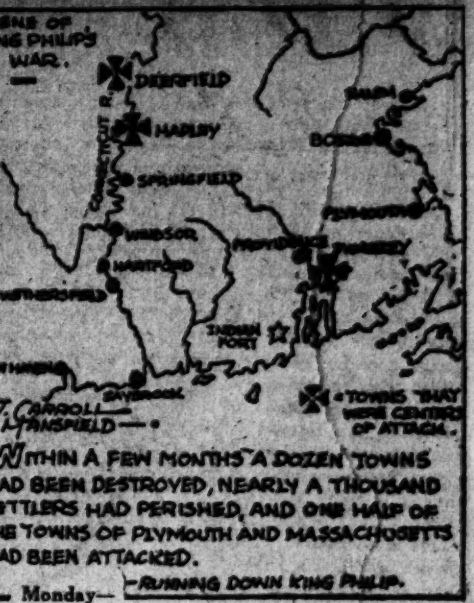

A TERRIBLE INDIAN WAR IN 1615-16, THAT IS KNOWN AS KING PHILIP'S WAR, WAS THE GREATEST DISASTER THAT EVER BEFELL THE NEW ENGLAND COLONIES. KING PHILIP WAS A CHIEF OF THE WAMPANOAGS AND A SON OF MASSASOIT, THE LONG TIME FRIEND OF PLYMOUTH. UNLIKE HIS FATHER, PHILIP HATED THE WHITE MEN AND RESENTED THEIR INCREASING POWER.

WHEN HIS BROTHER, CHIEF ALEXANDER, WAS SHORTLY AFTER BEING RELEASED AS A HOSTAGE BY THE PLYMOUTH SETTLERS, PHILIP ACCUSED THEM OF POISONING HIM, AND PERSUADED THE NARRAGANSETTS AND NIPMUCKS TO JOIN HIM IN A WAR ON THE SETTLEMENTS.

THE ATTACK CAME WITH TERRIFYING SUDDENNESS IN THE SUMMER OF 1675—STRIKING FIRST AT SWANZIE. THE INDIANS RANAGED THE SOUTH OF NEW ENGLAND WITH TOMAHAWKS AND TORCH, LEAVING A RED TRAIL OF DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

THE INDIAN WAR SPREAD TO THE WESTERN FRONTIER TOWNS ON THE CONNECTICUT RIVER—HADDY AND DEERFIELD WERE ATTACKED, AND MANY OF THE SMALLER SETTLEMENTS WERE COMPLETELY WIPED OUT BY THE HORDES OF YELLING, PAINTED SAVAGES.

Within a few months a dozen towns had been destroyed, nearly a thousand settlers had perished, and one half of the towns of Plymouth and Massachusetts had been attacked.

Uncle Ray's Corner A Little Saturday Talk

The Rugby Football Rules.

In the famous English school known as Rugby, there is a tablet with these words:

"This stone commemorates the exploits of William Webb Ellis who first took the ball in his arms and ran with it thus originating the distinctive feature of the Rugby game."

The youth, William Webb Ellis, deserves to be remembered, but he was not the first person to run with a football. Perhaps he was the first one to do so at Rugby, but hundreds of players had galloped down the field with a ball before he did in 1823.

We have already seen that the ancient Greeks and Romans played a form of football in England during the Middle Ages, kicking the ball, perhaps the main method of playing; but we have many proofs that the ball was carried.

Three hundred years ago, a Puritan named Philip Stubbs wrote: "Concerning football, I protest that it is rather a kind of fright than a play. For does not every one lie in wait for his opponent, to overthrow him and pitch him on his nose? By this means their backs are broken, sometimes their legs, sometimes their arms, sometimes their noses rush out with blood. And no wonder! They dash him against the heart with their elbows, and butt him under the short ribs and peck him on the neck."

Football has been played in Scotland for centuries. For a long time there was a custom for a team of married men to meet a team of bachelors on Candlemas day. We have this description of the game:

"He who got the ball ran with it until overtaken, and then tried to shake himself loose. The object of the married men was to put the ball three times in small holes in the moor, which was their goal. The bachelors tried to dip the ball three times in the river."

The school boys at Rugby were fond of the game of football in which—until 1823—the ball was kicked but never carried. A punt over the goal counted a score. Upon a November afternoon, a hard game was played. Neither side had scored, and it was almost 5 o'clock—when play must cease. Suddenly 20-year-old William Ellis caught the ball. Instead of trying to kick, he dashed down the field toward the enemy goal. No one could stop him, and he passed the line just as the school clock was striking.

The run by Ellis did not count, but the other students began to talk over the idea of letting players carry the ball. The idea caught on, and Rugby played football that way in later years.

Many years passed before English colleges settled upon football rules. Rome set the curious facts about the association football, or "soccer"—where the ball could only be kicked. The other set of rules was laid down upon the Rugby basis, and came to be known as "Rugby" football.

In our talk next Saturday, we'll take up some curious facts about American football in early times.

Q.—In what ways were the Greeks superior to the Romans, and why was Rome able to conquer Greece?—Agnes Heady, age 10.

A.—Those are large questions, but let us see what we can do in a short space. Perhaps the chief reason that the Greeks were greater is that they were more original. They copied some things in Egypt and Babylon, it is true, but they changed those things a great deal. They made things much better. The Romans, on the other hand, copied from Greece and other countries, but they seldom improved what they copied. The Greeks minded their own affairs better than the Romans and did not use up their lives trying to conquer the whole world. Greek critics quarreled among themselves, but the Romans spent much more time fighting. Greece was weaker than Rome. Roman armies came. The emperor Alexander (whose home was north of Greece) came into the country with an army and conquered some of the cities. After Alexander died, the Greek cities were not able to get along between themselves. They refused to unite, and Roman armies were able to overcome them by attacking different ones at different times.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA M. FORBES.

HAIR TONICS.

You probably have my formula for hair tonic, but in case you have mislaid it, I'll print it again at the end of this chat. I advise every one to use it in one of its two forms: without the pilocarpine if there are no gray hairs; with it if there is any tendency toward premature grayness, or even if gray hair has already started. There is always an age when grayness is inevitable, but I see no reason why age should not be pushed back several years. Tonics and proper care of the scalp will do this.

Most hair needs but one tonic, cleanliness and fresh hair. Short hair gets dirty sooner than long hair, but it is so easy to wash that most women are giving themselves successful shampoos every week now. A good thing, too, for if the scalp is dry, a little oil can be rubbed in, to counteract the drying effect of the shampoo, and if the scalp is too oily, the weekly washing will not hurt it. Daily thorough brushing is the next thing needed, but we're talked about that a lot recently. Hot olive oil or hot crude oil should be rubbed into a dry scalp, or a dandruffily oily one, the night before the shampoo, rubbed in liberally and allowed to soak in all night. I cured one case of dry dandruff that had existed 12 years, by rubbing occasionally with olive oil. It took months, but after all, the dandruff had persisted years. Some beauty shops use iodine, but you had better not try this yourself.

The tonic formula is: Pilocarpine hydrochlorate, 2 grains; precipitated sulphur, 30 grains; carbon detergent, 30 drops; castor oil, 10 drops; alcohol, 4 ounces; Tr. cantharides, 4 drams; Cologne, 4 drams; rose water, to make 8 ounces.

Betty D. C. K.—You can bleach the season's sunburn from your arms if you use cucumber juice on them every few days. Another way is to rub powdered oatmeal into the skin after you have washed and rinsed it. The skin should not be entirely dry when the oatmeal is drying, but also make the skin very soft and smooth.

Mrs. E. T. B.—Nothing leaves the hair so soft as an egg shampoo. To do this effectively, rub the egg into the scalp an hour before the shampoo, and then proceed as with any other method. All the dried egg will dissolve in the lather and rinse out of the hair while it carries with it all dandruff that may be on the scalp. There is sulphur in the egg that helps to purify the scalp, and that too, amounts to a special scalp treatment.

Anxious Mother—I do not think there is any particular age for a boy to begin to wear long trousers. It should be whenever the boy appears awkward in short ones; this could be as early as 14 years of age with a large boy, or 16 with a small one.

Edna Kent Forbes is now ready to fill a long-felt need on the part of her readers—that of supplying the most important of her excellent beauty hints in illustrated pamphlet form. To secure this valuable information you must address Miss Forbes in care of this paper, asking for her pamphlet, "Beauty," and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope (s.a. a.c.) and 10 cents in stamps.

WYCOFF SPURNS OFFERS TO TURN PROFESSIONAL

Wright Out With Flu Attack

BY GEORGE CONGDON.
Flurry over the possible plans of "Red" Wright, of Illinois, to play professional football at the end of his college career today in the Illinois game against Ohio State university, and lining up of a professional team to play this winter in Miami, disclosed yesterday that Captain Douglas Wycoff, of Tech, has been the object of dozens of offers of a professional football career.

Latest reports of plans to get the services of Wycoff for professional football came yesterday with a dispatch to the effect that the agency is planning to build a team around Notre Dame's Four Horsemen of 1924 to play in Florida. The dispatch mentioned Wycoff as one of the players who would be approached.

The team will include Don Miller, Tech coach, who was a member of the famous Notre Dame backfield, if present plans carry through. Wycoff had heard nothing of an offer yesterday from the Florida agency. Coach Alexander of Tech was the one to talk of the offers Wycoff has received.

Wycoff has received dozens of telegrams offering him places on professional football teams. Coach Alexander declared: "Of course, he isn't going to accept any of them. He is a baseball player as well as a football player and naturally wants to play college baseball in the spring. Then, too, he wouldn't leave school before his graduation."

"Wycoff isn't even considering any of the offers he has had." Practice at Grant field yesterday in preparation for the season's final game, that Thanksgiving day with Auburn, consisted of signal drill entirely. Three teams were running signals, with Backfield Coach Hansen filling up the third backfield.

Flu Tackles Wright.
The only one not in uniform yesterday was Dick Wright, halfback of the second varsity and understudy to Captain Wycoff. Bo Read, who has been suffering from a swelling in his knee, was running with the second backfield, with Connelly at left half, McKee at quarter and Holland at fullback. Wright is out now with flu, but will be able to play next Thursday.

In the first backfield were the first varsity men, Williams at quarter, Captain Wycoff and Carter Barron, halfbacks, and Sam Murray, fullback. The line was the regular lineup of Marshall and Merkle, ends; Tharpe and Fair, tackles; Goldwin and Forrester, guards, and Pool, center. Straight football plays that Tech has depended on all season were the plays being run yesterday in the long signal drill for the three varsity teams. There will be nothing but signal drills, sessions with the tackling dummies and running down under punts to concern the Tech outfit in practice for the Auburn game.

JUNIOR PETRELS PLAY TODAY

Hernandez field will be the scene of battle this morning when the Junior Petrels take on the Norman Park aggregation in what promises to be a hard tussle for the two. The Petrels have a strong team this season, and have won the varsity quite a bit throughout the year. An unusual feature of the game is the fact that Norman Park is coached by Jake Morris, former Petrel quarterback, who is said to have turned out a strong team this year.

Four of These Men Play Their Last Game for Oglethorpe Petrels Today

Twelve Men Are Out Of Game

NIX, END.

Four of these men play their last game today for Oglethorpe when the Petrels play Mercer. Nix, Maurer, Kilgore and Corless are the men graduating, while Campbell is reported as being favored to captain the 1926 Petrels.

CHAMP PICKENS PICKS MEN TO PICK CHAMP

Birmingham, Ala., November 20. (AP)—Forty members were named today for a committee which is to select the winner of the Champ Pickens trophy this year in football in the southern conference. The committee is comprised of the sports editors of the newspapers included in the territory embracing the conference. Zipp Newman, of the Birmingham News, is chairman of the committee. Each member of the committee is entitled to four votes for the four ranking teams on the S. I. C. The results of this ballot will be announced Sunday, November 29, on the heels of the completion of the football season on Thanksgiving. The University of Alabama is the present holder of the cup, being awarded the trophy in 1924. Vanderbilt won the cup in 1923, the first year it was awarded.

GEORGIA RATS TIE BABY 'GATORS

Bainbridge, Ga., November 20. (AP)—A hard fought struggle here today between two evenly matched eleven, resulted in a 7-to-7 tie between the University of Georgia freshmen and the Florida freshmen before approximately 2,000 or more spectators.

The Bulldogs' first-year team came through with the first tally when Dudley, quarterback, intercepted a forward pass in the first period and made a spectacular run for 55 yards and a touchdown. He had a wall of interference. The freshmen Gators came back in the final period with but a few minutes play and scored a touchdown with a strong push from mid-field, aided by forward passing. Many attempts were made for goals, but all fell dead while the two eleven's marched up and down the field. Ideal football weather prevailed.

In the first period, after Captain Bowyer, of Florida, had won the toss and elected to defend the west goal, with a moderate wind in his favor, Stanley, right end, kicked the oval for 55 yards to Dudley, who returned to his 30-yard line. After seeing-sawing up and down the field, Dudley intercepted a forward pass from Bowyer and raced down the sidelines for the lone touchdown for Georgia. He had too much speed for the Gator tacklers. Johnson kicked goal from place. In the second period Georgia had a clear field for a touchdown when McCarty, fullback, broke through the Florida center for 25 yards when he tripped and fell. The quarter ended shortly afterwards with the score standing 7-0 in favor of the Bulldogs.

The second period was featured with heavy line plunging by the Bulldogs, and at one time Georgia carried the ball to Florida's 5-yard line by a forward pass. Johnson, fullback, and which netted 28 yards. Still trying for a touchdown, the Bulldogs fought their way to the Gator one-yard line when the Florians eleven put up a stone wall defense and Georgia lost the ball on downs. It was a great exhibition of the defensive strength of the Gators.

The half ended with the Florians holding the ball on their own 13-yard line. Neither team made any substitutions at the beginning of the third period, after which Stanley, of Florida, kicked off for 55 yards to Hooks who brought the ball back 20 yards on Georgia's 25-yard line. The long punt of the game came later when Johnson, for Georgia, kicked 72 yards over the goal line. It was Florida's ball on her own 20-yard line. Both eleven's were penalized in this stanza for being off-side.

In the beginning of the last period Stewart replaced Goldstein at right guard for Florida. Smith later replaced Morris for Georgia and Owens went in for McKensie in the Gator line. Several forward passes were tried by both teams, but were incomplete.

MARIST BEATS GRIFFIN, 25 TO 0

Griffin, Ga., November 20. (Special)—The fast Marist eleven from Atlanta today took the measure of the Griffin High crew by the score of 25 to 0. Marist scored a touchdown in every quarter of the game. Van Houten was the big star of the visiting attack. In addition to his general playing, he received the kick-off at the beginning of the second half and raced 84 yards through the entire Griffin team for a touchdown. Brooks also played a beautiful game for Marist. He was responsible for a couple of touchdowns.

G. M. A. WINS FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Coach Morrow's G. M. A. Cadets brought a successful season to a close yesterday afternoon at G. M. A. when they won over Madison A. & M. by a score of 20 to 0. The game was well played and hard fought all the way.

The cadets started out the season with only one or two men from last year's squad, and Coach Morrow built up a team that lost only one game, Tech High defeating it by one point. Sorrell, redheaded G. M. A. fullback, was the main star, making two of the Cadets' touchdowns and a good many of the G. M. A. gains. Sorrell made the first touchdown when he bucked the ball over from the 12-yard line. After steady gains had placed it in position for a score. The second touchdown was made by Sorrell in the same manner. Most scored the third touchdown for G. M. A. on a delayed end run.

Madison made its lone score on a pass to Free that netted 50 yards and the touchdown. The A. & M. school had a hard-fighting team but the drive of the Cadets proved to be too much for it. Madison's last play, played a good game for Madison.

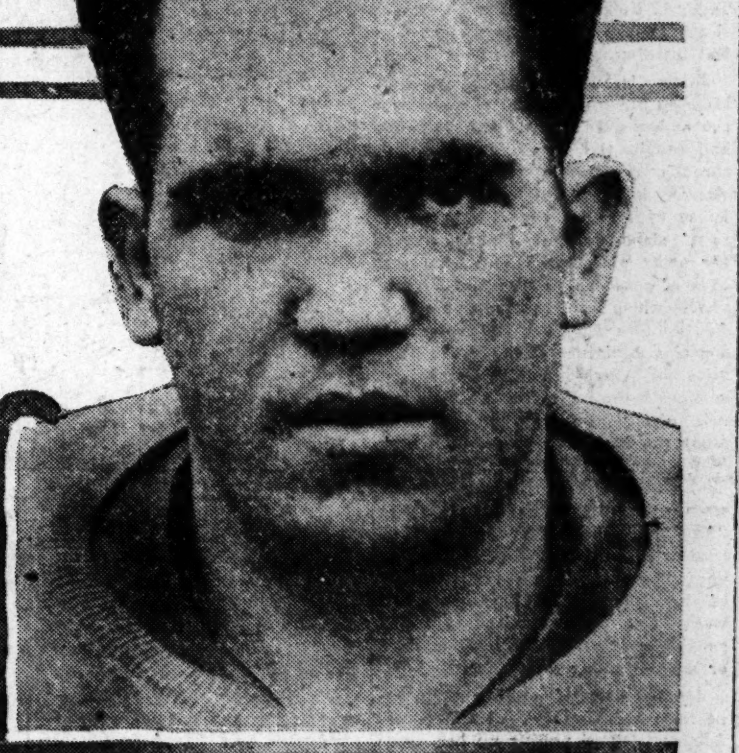

For G. M. A. the work of Dishman and Captain MacLean was good. Rainey, big center, continued to play his excellent game. The Cadets broke training last night, and will hold their annual banquet at a later date.

MONROE TEAM BEATEN, 19 TO 12

Monroe, Ga., November 20. (Special)—Coach "Red" Barron's Monroe Aggies went down in defeat today for the first time this season, Riverside winning a close verdict by the score of 19 to 12. It was the first time this season that the Aggies have been scored on and leaves Riverside undefeated in the G. I. A. A. and will probably be named by Coach Alexander to play for the championship of the association. A colorful crowd of 1,200 fans witnessed the struggle, with hands of the two schools adding to the spirit of the occasion. Pat Barron, young brother of the Monroe coach, scored both touchdowns for the Aggies, one after a beautiful run of 35 yards. Wright and Riddle were the big guns of the Riverside attack. They worked well on a passing attack, and Riddle scored two of the touchdowns while Wright scored the other.

Sportively Speaking—

By H.C. HAMILTON

Eastern Domination Wanes. The West Begins. A National Pastime.

YALE and Harvard football teams will be at it again today, engaging in a contest which for many years was regarded as the very peak of football action. That day has gone. There are other great football teams, many of them. They spot the country from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. There are lots of them physically and mentally able to cope with any Yale or Harvard football team. Princeton, for instance, beat them both this year after having been counted out of the Big Three championship.

Yale and Harvard will play to an enormous crowd of football fans this afternoon at Cambridge, but at Columbus, Ohio, preparations are being made to care for a crowd of 80,000 persons to see Illinois and Ohio State's gridiron battle with Red Grange the center of attraction. Harvard's stadium will not seat that many persons.

NEW HAVEN, Cambridge and Princeton once were the football centers of the universe. Yale, in fact, completely dominated the field at one time. Pennsylvania, Cornell, Carlisle, Brown, Dartmouth, Colgate and other eastern schools, crept gradually into the picture, but in only minor capacities. Behind the Alleghenies lay the west, but not for football purposes, according to the tastes of the eastern collegians. They ruled football.

Army and Navy grew into the spotlight by staging their annual battle with such emphatic football that the public just could not resist it, but still the west was not in the picture so far as national interest was concerned.

SOME years ago Notre Dame took a notion to play the Army and has been doing it ever since. The beatings which Knute Rockne has given that powerful representative of eastern football have caused much grief in the United States army and served more than anything else to awaken the east to the fact that the west can play football. The excitement of Georgia Tech and Centre college to eastern gridirons also have caused the natives of the east to realize that football is played with considerable vigor in this section of the United States.

THE point is this: Football has come to be recognized as a national sport. Every Saturday in the gridiron seasons hundreds of thousands of persons attend games all over the country. It is not much of a school nowadays that isn't represented by a football team, and the success of each team is very dear to the hearts of the students, be the school good old Swarth or dear old Yale.

The newspapers Sunday will print the news of the Yale-Harvard conflict at some length, but the game will not stand predominant over others. In New Haven, Boston, New York and a few other nearby spots the game will have the right of way, over other news, but the time has passed when California, Michigan, Georgia, Texas and the other outlying states look to Yale and Harvard to supply their football thrills. They make 'em right at home.

BY MARCUS BRYANT.

Athens, Ga., November 20. (Special)—New comes an injury of "Shakey" Kain to the Bulldogs casualty list, upon first thought seemingly light following the Tech game last Saturday. Kain received a broken nose in the Friday scrimmage, but it is not expected that he will be held out of the Thanksgiving game with Alabama at Birmingham. The addition of Kain to the list of cripples swells the number to twelve. Of this number, six will be unable to play against the Crimson Tide and include "Buster" Kilpatrick, Jack Curran, "Bob" McTigue, Willie Hatcher, Howell Hollis and Jim Carmichael. Curran was hurt in the Auburn game of last year and the same injured leg has bothered him all season. Kilpatrick's hurt in the Auburn game, which did not permit his playing last week against the Jackets is still bothering him and his career is closed. Willie Hatcher, "Bob" McTigue and Jim Carmichael, other injured members of the Red and Black camp hurt in the Auburn game are not expected to round into condition for the Alabama game. McTigue has the best chance of the trio, though his injury is slowly rounding into shape. Hollis has not been at practice all week.

Oliver Huff, tackle; Gene Smith, guard; Walter Forbes, center; "Jelly" Rogers, guard, and Tom Nelson, halfback, are nursing minor hurts but will be ready by game time. "Jelly" Rogers did not scrimmage Friday due to a charley horse, and Captain "Smack" Thompson watched the practice from the sidelines.

Second Scrimmage.
Friday's scrimmage for the Bulldogs was the second in as many days. Following a two-day rest on Monday and Tuesday, the Bulldogs resumed work with a light workout Wednesday and Thursday and Friday were both hard days.

A total of 39 men were used by Coach Woodruff Friday. The freshman team, away playing Florida, has not offered opposition for the past two days and the varsity has been mixing things between themselves. The scrimmage was divided between offensive and defensive play.

The Bulldogs are up against a tough proposition with the Alabama game near and they must be at their best. Bulldog supporters are longing for a comeback and a victory to stamp out humiliating defeats of the past two years. Then, a Georgia win would put the conference championship claims in a merry scramble, for the Tide remains undefeated this season and is steadily marching on toward a second consecutive championship.

PREP LEAGUE ADMITS M. H. S.

At a meeting of the Atlanta Prep league last night it was decided that two full rounds of basketball will be played this winter, beginning January 12. All games will be played on indoor courts and two officials will be required for each game. Marietta High was admitted into the league and Commercial High's application to come back in was granted. The league is composed of nine teams, as follows: Tech High, Forsyth High, G. M. A., Marist, Fulton High, Commercial High, Decatur, Marietta and University School for Boys. Every school was represented at the meeting except Marist.

game was won on a safety in the last; a touchdown scored off a blocked punt few minutes of the third quarter and in the fourth. Rackley kicked goal.

MERCER SET TO MAKE PERFECT RECORD OF PETRELS

Oglethorpe Will Start Veteran Lineup; Mercer Holds Win Over Furman

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

Only the intense rivalry that lives between Oglethorpe and Mercer, even as it lives between Tech and Georgia, makes today's battle at Spiller field, wherein the Petrels and Bears do battle, a classic of S. I. A. A. history. It will be a hard game for both teams, but today the dope bucket is tilting in favor of the Petrels, undefeated in the association.

All of this is introductory to the declaration that the Mercer Bears this season have acted like a bunch of moth-eaten bruisers about as tame as so many bear rugs. That is, the Bears have been that way, with the exception of one Saturday, that one two weeks ago, when the Mercer outfit spanked Furman, rated high in football circles this season.

Against the record of Mercer's defeat this season, stands a line of victories for the Petrels that have brought glory to the Oglethorpe doorstep.

Few Changes.

The team that the Petrels start today at 2 o'clock against the team brought up by Coach Stanley Robinson is practically the same as that which began the season. There have been one or two changes, but that is all.

Oglethorpe will line up with Nix and Hancock, ends; Corless and Goldsmith, tackles; Hardin and Justus, guards; Cousins, center; Campbell, quarterback; Maurer and Garlington, halfbacks; and Kilgore, fullback.

The officials for the game this afternoon will be Springer, Pennsylvania referee; Tichenor, Auburn, umpire, and Stegeman, Chicago, head linesman.

Petrels Beaten Once. The Petrels have been beaten only once this season and that was in the opening game of the season by Tech. Mercer did not play last Saturday and has the advantage of a two weeks' rest. However, Mercer had need of the rest, for the Bears have won just two of their games. They beat Furman and Howard college, and have lost this year to Georgia, Citadel, North Carolina and Florida.

The Bears had their last workout yesterday on their home field under the direction of Coach Robinson. They will leave Macon early this morning and arrive here before noon. That will leave no time for a final workout and limbering up practice Saturday morning. They will jump right into the game from final practice on their own lot.

The Petrels ran signals on Hermitage field yesterday afternoon in their final practice. Every man of the varsity squad, except Carroll, end, whose place will be filled by Hancock, was out and in splendid condition. All injuries which clouded Petrel hopes early in the week have cleared up, so that Oglethorpe presents a lineup that is practically its strongest.

MERCER TEAM ENTIRELY REVAMPED. Macon, Ga., November 20.—(Special.)—With hope revived as a result of their unexpected victory over Furman two weeks ago the Mercer Bears have completed their final preparations for the annual Oglethorpe struggle and believe they have a chance to win.

It was a revamped and reorganized team that so decisively defeated Furman. With two weeks' rest and light drill interspersed with scrimmages Coach Robinson's Orange and Black warriors carry a dangerous threat into the Petrel backfield tomorrow.

Late season changes in the line are strengthening the forward defense, while the shifting of Jimmie Glover to quarter and the placing of Roberts at full has filled the team with pep.

With every man in shape Coach Robinson has reworked his offense and it is expected the Bears will resort to a passing game if necessary, although, with "Phoney" Smith in the best of condition, Atlantans will have their first chance to see one of the flashiest backs in the south.

Smith will be called on to do most of the punting and passing as well as bear the brunt of the running attack. Jimmy Glover, the new quarter, has spirit and the morale of the team more than any quarter used this year. Skelton and Roberts will start the game with the aforementioned.

The line strength of the Bears has offensively and defensively improved by shifts. Butts has almost clinched right end. He is a sure tackler and is a hard man to remove on end runs. Parks has played an important part in recent games by being on the receiving end.

Eli McDonald, the old reliable, will still be at tackle. Slim Dean, an S. I. A. A. guard last year, has been moved back to his old place and Pierce put at tackle. Lancaster and P. Neal will be called on for guard. Carson, the captain, will start at center.

Two Unbeaten Conference Teams Play Today

Will the Bear or Petrel Survive?

U. S. B. BEATS NEWNAN HI, 19 TO 0

U. S. B. passed another G. I. A. A. milepost yesterday afternoon at Hermitage field by winning from Newnan High school by a score of 19-0. This game was the seventh G. I. A. A. contest to be played by the Bluebirds and they are now confronted by the strong Monroe A. & M. team next Saturday.

The Bluebirds did not show their usual drive and fight in the first half of yesterday's mix-up, scoring only one first down while the game was in the first half. They placed the ball in scoring position. The second touchdown came when Martin passed over the goal line to Butler. Butler added the final figure to the score when another series of licks by Ferguson had put the ball in a scoring position.

Butler and Ferguson were outstanding during the entire game. Both of these backs did most of the ball carrying, and made a good job of it. Butler made the longer run of the day when he tore off around end for 25 yards.

Murray and Timmons played fine defense games in the line for the Bluebirds. Murray playing center, and Timmons tackle. For the visitors, Nixon, 190-pound tackle, played best while Bob Barron, at right half, did most of the gaining for Newnan.

Though most bacteria are easily killed by heat, they are very resistant to freezing.

REPORTS STILL CONFLICT GRANGE SILENT AS BEARS AND FLORIDA CLAIM HIM

ON PLANS OF RED GRANGE

Chicago, November 20.—Despite all the rumors that have floated around the country concerning "Red" Grange's activities after Saturday's game at Columbus, it is known to be a fact that the Illinois halfback will play professional football Thanksgiving day at Chicago with the Chicago Bears.

He has signed no contract and no terms have been mentioned. On this Chicago professional team are seven Illinois football players. They are Joe and Dutch Sternmann, Walquist, Hallas, McMillen, Mullen and Scott.

These players are interested in Grange's team, and their affiliations with their alma mater. Several of them know of the jealousy and alleged methods which were used by the team of "Chick" Harley a few seasons ago to so injure Harley that he ultimately had to quit the game.

The Bears have assured Grange that he will not suffer from any professional jealousy and that he will get a chance to learn the pro game with the right kind of protection.

Loyal to Graduates. Grange feels the right way about it, too, it is said. He knows that he is younger and has not reached the physical development that the average professional player has and is therefore loyal to this group of men who are going to take care of him the right way.

He has long since privately intimated to the boys who are on the team that when he was through college he would play for them. "Red" Grange is a professional football player, and he is therefore loyal to this group of men who are going to take care of him the right way.

Grange Dazed by Crowd. When Grange arrived here this afternoon he appeared to be dazed by the pushing, shoving crowd that wanted to get a glimpse of him, and by newspaper men who besieged him with questions.

With a half fighting look in his eyes, Grange stood still mumbling only to indicate that he wished he were away from it all.

"I am tired of all this notoriety," he said. "I have had an awful week of it. Almost got kicked out of school, and everything. This excitement and everything is more than I can stand."

Said he did not think he would have any announcement to make after the closing game. "I do not know what I'm going to do," he said.

"Do you plan to leave school after this game?" he was asked.

"I have not decided that either," he said. "I have not decided that either."

Although Grange will leave Columbus tomorrow night he declined to say whether he was going to Chicago as persistent reports say he will or return to Champaign. Reports persisted Grange would go to Chicago and complete negotiations with the Chicago Bears.

Going Duck Hunting. To reports that he may make his professional debut on Thanksgiving day, Grange smilingly replied that he had an engagement to go duck hunting with a trainer of the Illinois team.

Some idea of the financial reward being held out to Grange for playing professional football, was revealed here today by Clyde Tuttle, treasurer of the Columbus Tigers, who indicated that Grange could earn from $10,000 to $20,000 for every appearance.

Tuttle said that the club-to-club contract between the Bears and the Tigers had been revised on the assumption Grange would be an attraction to the Chicago team. This new contract provides that Grange would receive 10 per cent of the first $5,000 which came into the gate, 20 per cent of the next $5,000 and 40 per cent of all over $10,000. Figured on a basis of $50,000 gate, which is conservative for Chicago, Grange's share would be $17,500 for this single game.

WALTER JOHNSON KILLS SNAKE; HURLS; STONES Walter Johnson, the Senator pitching ace, fanned a snake the first time up, adding a new notch to his Florida "Tiger" record. Several days before that "Big Train" killed a black bear.

Johnson struck out the snake with a stone, but admitted "two pitches were necessary. The snake was about four feet long and Johnson declared he did not know "to what league it belonged."

Just Four Games Billed in Conference Today; Bears, Petrels Feature in South

BY JULIAN GRIFFIN.

Four Southern conference teams have steadfastly refused as yet to lower their colors in defeat, and all four seem determined to travel right on to the curtain games of Thanksgiving with the same condition existing, which will leave a problem of mathematics confronting the committee of 40 sporting editors picked by Champ Pickens to pick the southern champs.

Alabama and North Carolina, comprising exactly one-half of the select quartet, will not play today. Tulane and Washington and Lee, though in action, will come through with a clean slate unless tremendous upsets are marked on the boards.

Tulane plays L. S. U., a team the Greenside defeated 13 to 0 last season. Tulane is much stronger this year and should win today by an even more decisive margin.

Washington and Lee has a game with North Carolina State. Last year the score was 34 to 0 in favor of the Generals.

Truth, which the story books say is stranger than fiction, may come to light this afternoon with one of the favorites beaten, but such is quite unlikely.

Four Conference Games. Only four southern conference games are billed for this afternoon, the other conference members prying the finale until the traditional Thanksgiving meetings.

T. I. Butler conference games today besides the pair mentioned above bring together Florida and the Mississippi Aggies in one game and Mississippi and Southern in the other. Florida and Mississippi were last year's winners in these games.

While Tech is idle in Atlanta, the Oglethorpe Petrels and Mercer Bears will engage in a contest that will probably be the most colorful affair of the south. Both are S. I. A. A. members and Oglethorpe's chances for the

LANIER PLAYS GORDON TO TIE

Macon, Ga., November 20.—(Special.)—Lanier High and Gordon institute, of Barnesville, played a scoreless tie here this afternoon. In the first quarter the Gordon team carried the ball to within three yards of Lanier's goal, when Lanier held for downs. After that it was an even battle. This means that Riverside and Lanier will probably have to play a post-season game for the G. I. A. A. honors, neither Riverside nor Lanier having been beaten by a G. I. A. A. team and both having played a scoreless tie with Gordon. The post-season game probably will be played here on December 12.

Tech High and Greenville High, from South Carolina, each scored a touchdown in the first quarter and then struggled the three remaining quarters to a 6-to-6 tie Friday afternoon on Henry Grady field, in a well played and hard fought prep football game.

Tech High's sweeping and running attack which has been working so well this season was stopped cold Friday afternoon, partly due to a field which was covered six inches in sand and also due to the alertness of the visiting ends and tackles.

Greenville's main threat lay in a forward pass attack, which also was slowed up due to the sand and underfoot, but the visitors proved that their aerial attack, which carried them to glory in South Carolina during the past games, was a threat at all times and was responsible for a 30-yard gain Friday afternoon and paved the way for a few seconds later for the touchdown that tied the game.

Tech High received the kickoff and failed to gain and punted against a strong wind to its own 35-yard line. Greenville then lost the ball on downs and Tech High started its drive to a touchdown on its own 35-yard line. Cook broke through left tackle for a 27-yard sprint and cleared left end for a beautiful 38-yard sprint and a touchdown. Vaughn failed to kick goal. It was the only time Tech High had any chance to show his speed on firm ground.

Greenville Comes Back. Greenville was not to be outdone and promptly fought back for a touchdown. Tech High kicked off and Anthony, of Greenville, returned the ball 20 yards on a beautiful run. Greenville then caught the Tech High team napping and punted more than 60 yards over the Smiths goal line. Tech High was forced to punt and Greenville received the ball in the center of the field. A 30-yard forward pass, McMannaway to Cass, placed the ball on the Smiths 20-yard line. A beautiful off tackle buck by Cass netted 10 yards and then Captain McMannaway carried the ball the remaining 10 yards to a touchdown.

Both teams fought for an opening in the second quarter, but it developed into a punting duel. Late in the third quarter Tech High carried the ball to the visitors' 10-yard line, only to lose it on downs. Again in the final quarter, Tech High had the ball within striking distance, but lacked the punch to carry it across.

The work of Davis at end, Maddox at guard and Cook and Vaughn was exceptionally good for Tech High.

Bravely Work Shown. Captain McMannaway's work was by far the best for the visitors. He was one of the smartest prep field gen-

Tech High and Greenville High, from South Carolina, each scored a touchdown in the first quarter and then struggled the three remaining quarters to a 6-to-6 tie Friday afternoon on Henry Grady field, in a well played and hard fought prep football game.

Tech High's sweeping and running attack which has been working so well this season was stopped cold Friday afternoon, partly due to a field which was covered six inches in sand and also due to the alertness of the visiting ends and tackles.

Greenville's main threat lay in a forward pass attack, which also was slowed up due to the sand and underfoot, but the visitors proved that their aerial attack, which carried them to glory in South Carolina during the past games, was a threat at all times and was responsible for a 30-yard gain Friday afternoon and paved the way for a few seconds later for the touchdown that tied the game.

Tech High received the kickoff and failed to gain and punted against a strong wind to its own 35-yard line. Greenville then lost the ball on downs and Tech High started its drive to a touchdown on its own 35-yard line. Cook broke through left tackle for a 27-yard sprint and cleared left end for a beautiful 38-yard sprint and a touchdown. Vaughn failed to kick goal. It was the only time Tech High had any chance to show his speed on firm ground.

Greenville Comes Back. Greenville was not to be outdone and promptly fought back for a touchdown. Tech High kicked off and Anthony, of Greenville, returned the ball 20 yards on a beautiful run. Greenville then caught the Tech High team napping and punted more than 60 yards over the Smiths goal line. Tech High was forced to punt and Greenville received the ball in the center of the field. A 30-yard forward pass, McMannaway to Cass, placed the ball on the Smiths 20-yard line. A beautiful off tackle buck by Cass netted 10 yards and then Captain McMannaway carried the ball the remaining 10 yards to a touchdown.

Both teams fought for an opening in the second quarter, but it developed into a punting duel. Late in the third quarter Tech High carried the ball to the visitors' 10-yard line, only to lose it on downs. Again in the final quarter, Tech High had the ball within striking distance, but lacked the punch to carry it across.

The work of Davis at end, Maddox at guard and Cook and Vaughn was exceptionally good for Tech High.

Bravely Work Shown. Captain McMannaway's work was by far the best for the visitors. He was one of the smartest prep field gen-

GEORGETOWN BEATEN BY CENTRE

Danville, Ky., November 20.—(AP.)—Centre defeated Georgetown in a one-sided football game here today, 34 to 6, coming back strong in the last three periods after being clearly outplayed in the first. The feature of the game was Rabenstein's 62-yard run for a touchdown, the first of the game and the longest run a Centre man had made this season.

Georgetown had things its own way in the opening period, making three first downs to name for the Colonels, but did not score. It was about the only bit of brilliancy shown by Georgetown during the game. Their threat did not last long, however, and Centre scored two touchdowns in the next period, one on Rabenstein's run and another as the result of a Georgetown fumble.

Return of the kickoff 50 yards, a 25-yard pass and a 100-yard play gave Centre its third touchdown at the opening of the second half. Late in the period Georgetown scored a touchdown when Rabenstein, who had signalled for a punt, fumbled the ball, Georgetown recovering. A flash of strong offense netted Georgetown two first downs and a touchdown, but goal was not kicked.

Two more touchdowns, aided greatly by long forward passes, ended Centre's scoring in the last period.

Callahan said he knew of no contract signed by Grange as yet, but was positive of information that the Illinois star would turn professional after Saturday's game with Ohio State.

"Red" will organize a team composed of Earl Britton, star fullback of the Illinois, and other players from the western conference, Tim asserted.

"I have been playing for the Chicago Bears," he will take away some of their best players and add them to his team.

Columbus, Ohio, November 20.—(AP.)—Harold "Red" Grange, the galloping ghost of the gridiron, passed the threshold of two important events tonight.

Tomorrow this red head, heralded as the football star of the generation, brings to a conclusion his amazing intercollegiate football career.

Tomorrow, after the last play in the Ohio State-Illinois game, he may formally announce he is going to choose a professional football career, and reap a fortune. He may also an-ounce that he will immediately leave the University of Illinois, ending his academic career as well as his intercollegiate career. Saturday launch upon the business of capitalizing upon the most remarkable and spectacular football record in history.

As Grange is leaving tomorrow's battle he is harangued on one side by those who have guided his course through his intercollegiate career, and on the other by those who seek to have him take immediate advantage of the opportunity of making himself independently wealthy by engaging in professional football, moving pictures and other business enterprises.

Urged to Finish Course. Grange's close friends are urging him to refuse to play professional football, which they say is held out as a lure and a snare to him and are counselling with him to finish his course at Illinois. George Huff, director of athletics at Illinois, said tonight that he had not given up hopes that Grange would decide to remain out of professional games for the present, at least.

Robert Zupke, coach of the Illini, as well as President Kinsley, of the university, have Grange's word he has not signed a contract with C. C. Pyle, the Champaign, Ill., moving picture owner, to act as his manager in business ventures, including football.

Zupke is of the same opinion as Huff as to Grange's plans.

"I do not own Grange," Zupke said, "and have no control over him, except that he may decide to take my advice. He has had several offers made him, with big fat salaries, but he has engaged in professional sports, these business opportunities will not be held open to him."

Grange arrived here this afternoon he appeared to be dazed by the pushing, shoving crowd that wanted to get a glimpse of him, and by newspaper men who besieged him with questions.

With a half fighting look in his eyes, Grange stood still mumbling only to indicate that he wished he were away from it all.

"I am tired of all this notoriety," he said. "I have had an awful week of it. Almost got kicked out of school, and everything. This excitement and everything is more than I can stand."

Said he did not think he would have any announcement to make after the closing game. "I do not know what I'm going to do," he said.

"Do you plan to leave school after this game?" he was asked.

"I have not decided that either," he said. "I have not decided that either."

Although Grange will leave Columbus tomorrow night he declined to say whether he was going to Chicago as persistent reports say he will or return to Champaign. Reports persisted Grange would go to Chicago and complete negotiations with the Chicago Bears.

Going Duck Hunting. To reports that he may make his professional debut on Thanksgiving day, Grange smilingly replied that he had an engagement to go duck hunting with a trainer of the Illinois team.

Some idea of the financial reward being held out to Grange for playing professional football, was revealed here today by Clyde Tuttle, treasurer of the Columbus Tigers, who indicated that Grange could earn from $10,000 to $20,000 for every appearance.

Tuttle said that the club-to-club contract between the Bears and the Tigers had been revised on the assumption Grange would be an attraction to the Chicago team. This new contract provides that Grange would receive 10 per cent of the first $5,000 which came into the gate, 20 per cent of the next $5,000 and 40 per cent of all over $10,000. Figured on a basis of $50,000 gate, which is conservative for Chicago, Grange's share would be $17,500 for this single game.

WALTER JOHNSON KILLS SNAKE; HURLS; STONES Walter Johnson, the Senator pitching ace, fanned a snake the first time up, adding a new notch to his Florida "Tiger" record. Several days before that "Big Train" killed a black bear.

Johnson struck out the snake with a stone, but admitted "two pitches were necessary. The snake was about four feet long and Johnson declared he did not know "to what league it belonged."

responsable for the late selling movement, United States Steel moved from 133 1/4 to 130 3/4, and then declined to 128 1/4 for a net loss of 5 points.

American Cello reached previous 122 1/2 to 247; Baldwin from 127 1/4 to 124 1/2, and General Motors from 128 3/8 to 125 3/8. Dupont dropped from 228 to 218 and the move back to 225 for a net gain of 3 points.

Heavy selling of Hudson, which broke from 102 5/8 to 94, closing slightly above the low figure for a net loss of nearly five points, probably reflected speculative disappointments over the failure of the directors to increase the regular $4 annual dividend. Other outstanding weak spots were American Brake Shoe and Foundry, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, all off 4 to 7 1/2 points. Radio Corporation broke nearly five points to a new low record at 112 1/2.

There were several independent strong spots in the industrial group. Federal Mining and Smelting common standing out with a gain of 12 points at 71, a new high level. Other industrial stocks that slipped relatively today were Slows-Sheffield Steel, May Department Stores, Tobacco Products, International Nickel, Calumet and Hecla, and Wills-Owens, all off 1 to 2 points.

Rails lost part of their gains in the final hour although Pere Marquette, "Nickel Plate," Pennsylvania, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, Norfolk and Western, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio, all gained 1 to 2 points. Chesapeake and Ohio was heavy throughout, closing nearly three points lower at 117 3/4.

Call money advanced to 4 1/2 per cent all day. The time money and commercial paper markets were relatively quiet with rates unchanged.

Foreign exchange was steady within rather narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling was slightly firmer at $84.54 and French francs and Italian lire were steady at 200 and 200 1/2, respectively. Polish zloty broke 20 points to a new low record for the year at 15.00 cents.

Another private crop report estimated the yield at 15,470,000 bales. A canvass of New York Cotton exchange members showed an average expectation of a government report of around 15,818,000 bales. Recent private reports have pointed, on the average, to a gain of about 12,570,000 bales to November 14.

Exports today 59,501, making 3,306,020 so far this season. Port receipts 58,165. U. S. port stocks 1,380,048.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK

New York, November 20.—(AP)—The cotton market was lower today under southern and local selling, January deliveries declining to 19.50, or 23 points net lower, while May sold off to 19.08, or 42 points below yesterday's closing quotation. Last prices were the lowest of the day on most positions, although the final tone of the market was steady, 19 to 41 points net lower.

The market opened fairly steady at an advance of 1 point on October, but generally 8 to 13 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of better weather in the south. Slight midday rallies developed on covering or trade buying, but offerings increased toward the close when there was heavy commission house liquidation and selling, which indicated the market was disposed to drop comparatively high crop figures from the government tomorrow. Near months held relatively firm, but December declined to 20.07, or 25 points net lower, and March sold off to 19.50, or 35 points net lower.

Old straddles between January and later months were being undone during the day and from a discount of 12 points at the close of Thursday, January sold on about even terms with March during the afternoon. Local traders regarded this in line with recent predictions that owing to the low grade of this crop, near months were likely to hold premiums over later deliveries. In spite of the January strength, the December premium was well maintained. At the close December was 83 points over January, compared with 79 points at the close yesterday.

Another private crop report estimated the yield at 15,470,000 bales. A canvass of New York Cotton exchange members showed an average expectation of a government report of around 15,818,000 bales. Recent private reports have pointed, on the average, to a gain of about 12,570,000 bales to November 14.

COLUMBUS HIGH BEATS B. H. S.

Columbus, Ga., November 20.—(Special).—Fighting gamely from start to finish, the purple-shirted Boys' High football team held Coach J. D. Thompson's Blue Devils of the Columbus High school to a one-touchdown game here this afternoon. A drop-kick after touchdown following a series of line bunts rendered the final score, 7 to 0. Seemingly matched against a superior gridiron machine an inspired game, and on four occasions held the Columbuses when less than 10 yards were needed for a score.

The winning touchdown came in the middle of the final period after Thompson's players had pushed the offense again in the shadow of the goal post. Buck Milburn, a favorite halfback on the Blue squad, twisted off tackle for a couple of yards and points.

Captain McCleskey of Boys' High, played a praiseworthy game both on offense and defense. For the locals, Milburn and "Squatty" McElroy, and Brooks Frazier, Ware and Kennedy in the forward works were the big guns.

Columbus High closes its grid season next Thursday with their annual Thanksgiving game with Lanier High school in Macon.

Indole exists in sea water only to the extent of two parts to the million.

New York, November 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Associated Press report of the sale of the $100,000,000 Italian loan and retention of the 3 1/2 per cent low discount rate for another week checked the bond market today and prices moved moderately higher.

Unofficial estimates on total orders for the Italian loan ran from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000. Following the quick sale of the issue the bonds were listed on the New York stock exchange on a when issued basis and commanded a fractional premium above the offering price of 94 1/2. Other foreign obligations were quiet.

Unofficial estimates continued to provide the principal features of the trading interest. Modification of the rate of the convertible 4 1/2 per cent bond was expected. Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 4 1/2 per cent bonds were expected to be sold at a new high.

New York and Western convertible 4 1/2 per cent bonds were expected to be sold at a new high. The success of the Italian loan was expected to speed up negotiations for several Italian industrial loans now pending with prospects that several of them will be brought into the market within the next few weeks.

A $4,000,000 issue of Hershey Chocolate Company bonds has been sold to local bankers and will be offered to the public within a few days.
